

Chris and Matt: A Proposal for Working Together

For Matt Campbell, EdTech Expertz · From Christopher Habetler · September 29, 2026

Matt, thank you for asking. I've loved working with you these last few months, and I appreciate the trust behind it. I'm excited, and a little nervous putting numbers on paper, so forgive anything that seems presumptuous. On the 22nd you asked what I could do, what it would look like, and what I'd charge. This is my first stab at an answer, and it only works for me if it works for you.

01 The Opportunity

EdTech Expertz is ready to grow: AAP is about to sign, five strong leads are waiting, and you've talked about building an empire. Right now, you're the bottleneck. You're amazing at this work, so everything runs through you, and nobody has a time machine. If I take enough off your plate, you can take on more clients in about the same hours.

02 A Rough Look at the Numbers

YOUR BUSINESS	MONTHLY PROFIT
Three clients, today	About $3,000 past your bills
Four clients, with AAP	About $12,000
A few more, within six months	About $30,000

A crude analysis, from what you've shared in our conversations, of how more clients change your bottom line.

Each new client adds about $6,000 to $9,000 a month to it. Please correct anything I have wrong.

03 Initial Scope: Roles and Responsibilities

The idea is about one workday a week, filled with whatever matters most. It's predictable, and you're paying for it, so you're never asking a favor. Ask for a lot.

RESEARCH	ADVISORY	REFERRAL NETWORK	DELEGATION
- Crosswalks and diligence readouts - Prep briefs, starting with your five parked leads - People maps (your "30 people at Canvas")	- First meetings with prospective clients - Working sessions with client teams - Messaging, decks, and pitches	- Recruiting and vetting members - Training them on the companies - Monthly check-ins	- The ChatGPT workspace - A shared knowledge base - The company email and QuickBooks

Could add: promotional materials, conferences, feedback panels, sales training, procurement, AI enablement, L&D.

04 How I Got to a Number

I had Claude start from what you walked me through last week, then went back and forth with it until the numbers felt fair and clear. The pay has three parts.

- A base rate. Priced on value, not hours. $3,000 a month is a third to half of what one new client adds. At three clients it would be your whole margin, so it starts when AAP signs.
- A share of new clients. New clients come from your relationships and your selling. My part is helping you win and carry them, which is a referral partner's role, and referral partners typically earn 10% to 15%. I took the top of that range: 15% of each new client's monthly retainer.
- A share of the referral network. On 9/16 you described pay that "grows as the sales these individuals bring in grows." Here I'd do most of the work behind the deal, recruiting and training the members who bring it. So the share is higher, 20%, but of what EdTech Expertz keeps on the deal, not the full deal.

Putting it all together: $3,000 a month to start, growing only as EdTech Expertz grows.

The Proposal

05 Terms

This is both a contractual proposal and an agreement in principle. The terms are here for clarity, not to put the partnership in a box. When something needs doing at a moment's notice, I'm in, whatever it takes. Each quarter we step back and make sure the terms still fit that spirit, and that my pay grows only when the business does.

TERM	PROPOSED	DETAILS
Base rate	$3,000 a month	- Starts October 1 or the day AAP signs, whichever is later - Benchmark and Forward Edge 10/1 are on me either way
New clients	15% of each new client's monthly retainer	- AAP is in the base rate; this counts clients after it - Runs while the client pays you, and comes off if they leave - A $10,000-a-month client adds $1,500, for $4,500 total - You tell me the amount, and I invoice the new number
Referral network	20% of what EdTech Expertz keeps on network deals	- Network deals come from member intros you approve - I'll never pitch members, and they still go through you - My own intros stay under our August agreement
Time	About a day a week	- We fill it with whatever matters most that week - Same-day replies, and 48-hour turnaround by default
Ownership	Yours	- Anything I create for you, prompts included - Direct ClassE work falls under my agreement with Joe

06 Items for Conversation

- 1. A full-time role. I'm in late rounds for a full-time role at a charter network, and there may be others. If one happens, you'll hear it from me first, and I want to keep doing both, with the work before and after the school day.
- 2. Your numbers. Do I have the profit picture right? What do you usually keep on a network deal? How many hours a week do research and the network take you now?
- 3. Other projects. Courses, speaking, or client-paid projects, with my share agreed before each starts.
- 4. The ClassE advisory. Joe would pay it directly, so it doesn't touch your ClassE fee or my 15%. My starting thought is $3,000 a month, and I'd want your read on framing it with Joe.

Thank you again for asking. Clarity is king, so push on any of it. I'm here and ready to adjust.
