

Chris and Matt: A Proposal for Working Together

For Matt Campbell, EdTech Expertz · From Christopher Habetler · September 29, 2026

Matt, thank you for asking. I've loved working with you these last few months, and I appreciate the trust behind it. I'll admit I'm a little nervous putting numbers on paper, so forgive anything that seems presumptuous. On the 22nd you asked what I could do, what it would look like, and what I would charge. This is my first stab at an answer. I'm excited about it, I expect we'll change a good bit of it together, and it only works for me if it works for you.

The Opportunity

EdTech Expertz is ready to grow. AAP is about to sign, five strong leads are waiting, and you've talked about building it into an empire. Right now, you're the bottleneck. You're amazing at this work, so everything runs through you, and nobody has a time machine. If I take enough off your plate, the business can take on more clients while your hours stay about the same.

A Rough Look at the Numbers

YOUR BUSINESS	MONTHLY PROFIT
Three clients, today	About $3,000 past your bills
Four clients, with AAP	About $12,000
A few more, within six months	About $30,000

I did a crude analysis of how more clients might change your bottom line, using what you've shared in our conversations.

That puts each new client at about $6,000 to $9,000 a month in profit to you. Please correct anything I have wrong.

What I'd Take Off Your Plate

Research

You set the goal and I come back with more than you asked for, so you walk into meetings ready without doing the digging.

Referral network

Recruiting, training, and checking in on members, so the network grows without taking your week.

Advisory

The school-side voice in your client work, from first meetings with prospects to feedback on decks and pitches.

Delegation

The consulting infrastructure you mentioned, from the ChatGPT workspace to QuickBooks, off your desk.

That leaves you the strategy, the relationships, and the product work only you can do.

How I Got to a Number

I had Claude work from what you walked me through last week, then went back and forth with what it came up with until it felt fair, appropriate, and clear. The pay has three parts.

- 1 A base rate. I priced the value, not the hours, so there's no hourly rate and no cap on what you can ask for. One new client is worth about $6,000 to $9,000 a month to you, and a third to a half of that is $3,000 a month.
- 2 A share of new clients. The pay should grow only when the business grows. Referral partners typically earn 10% to 15% of new business, and I took the top of that range: 15% of each new client's monthly retainer. The other 85% stays with EdTech Expertz.
- 3 A share of the referral network. On 9/16 you described pay that "grows as the sales these individuals bring in grows." Running the network would be my job, so when a deal comes in through a member, I'd get 20% of what EdTech Expertz keeps on that deal.

PUTTING IT ALL TOGETHER

$3,000 a month to start, growing only as EdTech Expertz grows.

The Proposal

Scope of Work

RESEARCH

- Crosswalks and diligence readouts
- Prep briefs, starting with your five parked leads
- People maps of a target organization (your "30 people at Canvas")

ADVISORY

- First meetings with prospective clients
- Working sessions with client teams
- Messaging, and feedback on decks and pitches

REFERRAL NETWORK

- Recruiting and vetting members
- Training them on the companies
- Monthly check-ins, with members and clients still going through you

DELEGATION

- The ChatGPT workspace
- A shared knowledge base
- The company email and QuickBooks

Beyond the core, when you want them: promotional materials, conferences, feedback panels, sales training, procurement help, AI enablement, and L&D.

Terms

This is both a contractual proposal and an agreement in principle. As the business changes, we step back each quarter to make sure the terms still fit the spirit of it.

TERM	PROPOSED	DETAILS
Base rate	$3,000 a month	• Starts October 1 or the day AAP signs, whichever is later • Benchmark and Forward Edge on 10/1 are on me either way
New clients	15% of each new client's monthly retainer	• Counts clients signed after the start date • A $10,000 -a -month client adds $1,500, for $4,500 total • You tell me the amount, and I invoice the new number
Referral network	20% of what EdTech Expertz keeps on network deals	• Network deals come from member intros you approve • I'll never pitch members • My own intros stay under our August agreement
Time	About a day a week	• A guide for what's reasonable to ask, not a limit • Same-day replies, and 48 hours on requests
Ownership	Yours	• Anything I create for you, prompts included • My direct work for ClassE falls under my agreement with Joe

Items for Conversation

- 1. A full-time role. I'm in late rounds for a full-time role at a charter network, and there may be others. If one happens, you'll hear it from me first, and I want to keep doing both, with the work before and after the school day.
- 2. Your numbers. Do I have the profit picture right? What do you usually keep on a network deal? How many hours a week do research and the network take you now?
- 3. Check-ins and changes. A short weekly check-in where you set the priorities, a real review in January, then the quarterly step-backs. Either of us can end it with 30 days' notice, paid, with a clean handoff and 12 months of network share on deals already logged.
- 4. Other projects. Courses, speaking, or client-paid projects, with my share agreed before each starts.
- 5. The ClassE advisory. Joe would pay it directly, so it doesn't touch your ClassE fee or my 15%. My starting thought is $3,000 a month, and I'd want your read on framing it with Joe.

Thank you again for asking. I'm looking forward to talking it through. Clarity is king, so push on any of it.

Christopher