

Chris and Matt: A Proposal for Working Together

For Matt Campbell, EdTech Expertz · From Chris Habetler · September 29, 2026

Matt, thank you for asking. I've loved working with you these last few months, and I appreciate the trust behind it. On the 22nd you asked what I could do, what it would look like, and what I would charge. I'll admit I'm a little nervous putting numbers on paper, so forgive anything that seems presumptuous. It only works for me if it works for you.

The Opportunity

EdTech Expertz is ready to grow: AAP is about to sign, five strong leads are waiting, and you've talked about building it into an empire. The constraint is your time. You're uniquely qualified, and nobody has a time machine. If I take enough off your plate, the business brings in more while your hours stay about the same, and I earn a real place on the team.

The Financial Case

YOUR BUSINESS	MONTHLY PROFIT
Three clients, today	About $3,000 past your bills
Four clients, with AAP	About $12,000
A few more, within six months	About $30,000

That puts each new client at $6,000 to $9,000 a month in profit to you. If my help lets EdTech Expertz take on even one more, the business comes out well ahead.

These are rough figures from our conversations. Please correct me where I have them wrong.

What I'd Take Off Your Plate

Research

Crosswalks, diligence readouts, prep briefs on prospective clients, and people maps (your "30 people at Canvas"). You set the goal, and I come back with more than you asked for.

Advisory

The school-side voice in your client work: first meetings with prospective clients, working sessions, messaging, and feedback on decks and pitches.

Referral network

Recruiting members, training them on the companies, and checking in on them. Members and clients still go through you.

Delegation

The consulting infrastructure you mentioned: the ChatGPT workspace, a shared knowledge base, the company email, and QuickBooks.

What It Frees You to Do

- The strategy and product work only you can do
- Take on AAP and open the five parked leads
- Room to think, and to hand things off with confidence

The Value I'd Bring

- School-side credibility in the room with your clients
- A referral network that runs day to day without you
- Client context in one shared place, not only in your head

How I Got to a Number

- 1 Price the value, not the hours. No hourly rate, and no cap on what you can ask for.
- 2 Start where the business is today. $3,000 a month is between a third and a half of what one new client is worth to you.
- 3 Grow only when the business grows. 15% of each new client's monthly retainer, the top of the 10% to 15% range referral partners typically earn. The other 85% stays with EdTech Expertz.
- 4 Tie network pay to network results. 20% of what EdTech Expertz keeps on network deals, your 9/16 idea of pay that "grows as the sales these individuals bring in grows."

$3,000 a month to start, growing as EdTech Expertz grows.

If that's too big a swing to start, let's find a smaller one. From what I understand, you could use the support, and I sure wouldn't mind a little income.

The Proposal

TERM	WHAT	HOW IT WORKS
Base rate	$3,000 a month	Starts October 1 or the day AAP signs, whichever is later. The work starts when the base rate does, and Benchmark and Forward Edge on 10/1 are on me either way.
New clients	+15% of new retainers	A $10,000-a-month client adds $1,500, bringing the base rate to $4,500. Tell me the amount when a retainer signs, and I'll invoice the new number.
Referral network	20% of network keep	20% of what EdTech Expertz keeps on network deals. I'll never pitch members, and my own intros stay under our August agreement.
Projects	Agreed up front	Courses, speaking, or client-paid projects I help build. We set my share before each one starts.
Time	About a day a week	A guide for what's reasonable to ask, not a limit. Same-day replies, and 48 hours on requests unless we agree otherwise.
Ownership	Yours	Anything I create for you, prompts included. Work I do directly for ClassE falls under my agreement with Joe.

The First Month

RESEARCH	DELEGATION	REFERRAL NETWORK	ADVISORY
Prep briefs on your five parked leads	ChatGPT workspace and knowledge base set up	Member list cleaned up, one-page card on each company	Forward Edge on 10/1, and whatever comes up

Check-Ins and Changes

This is meant to be ongoing, not a trial. A short weekly check-in where you set the priorities, a real review in January, then quarterly.

IF	THEN
The work runs well past a day a week for a month or two	We look at the base rate together
You sign a very large client, or bring on more people	We reset the rate and the role together
A client leaves, or AAP slips past October	We talk at the next check-in, rather than letting a formula decide
Either of us wants out	30 days' notice, the notice month is paid, and you get a clean handoff. The network share pays for 12 months on deals already logged.

Items for Conversation

- 1. A full-time role. I'm in late rounds for a full-time role at a charter network, and there may be others. If one happens, you'll hear it from me first, and I want to keep doing both, with the work before and after the school day.
- 2. Your numbers. Do I have the profit picture right? What do you usually keep on a network deal? How many hours a week do research and the network take you now?
- 3. The ClassE advisory. Joe would pay it directly, so it doesn't touch your ClassE fee or my 15%. My starting thought is $3,000 a month, and I'd want your read on framing it with Joe.
- 4. Beyond the core. Promotional materials, conferences, client-team work, feedback panels, sales training, procurement help, AI enablement, or L&D, whenever you want them.

Thank you again for asking. I'm looking forward to talking it through. Clarity is king, so push on any of it.

Chris
